

SETTING EXERCISE: FLEX YOUR DESCRIPTIVE MUSCLES

(Sourced from The Rural Setting Thesaurus: A Writer's Guide to Personal and Natural Places.)

Choose a setting location and list two sensory details for each of the five senses.

SIGHT

SMELL

SOUND

TASTE

Now, write a paragraph describing this setting through the eyes of a character who has never visited this location before. Weave in the quality of light, the time of day or the season (if it applies), and use at least 3 of the 5 senses above. Try to show us who the character is and what he or she feels.

Now rewrite this passage, this time using foreshadowing to imply that something bad is about to happen. Concentrate on building a subtle mood of unease or home in on a detail that does not fit in the setting, drawing attention to it. Try out some new sensory description choices if you like.

Now, let's ramp up the tension. Rewrite this again to show your character interacting with the setting as he or she either flees, fights, or hides. Description should flow with the action of the scene, showing emotion and mood. Remember to try some shorter sentences to reflect urgency.

PRAISE FOR THE EMOTION THESAURUS

“One of the challenges a fiction writer faces, especially when prolific, is coming up with fresh ways to describe emotions. This handy compendium fills that need. It is both a reference and a brainstorming tool, and one of the resources I'll be turning to most often as I write my own books.”

~ James Scott Bell, best-selling author of Deceived and Plot & Structure

PRAISE FOR THE POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE TRAIT THESAURUS BOOKS

“In these brilliantly conceived, superbly organized and astonishingly thorough volumes, Angela Ackerman and Becca Puglisi have created an invaluable resource for writers and storytellers. Whether you are searching for new and unique ways to add and define characters, or brainstorming methods for revealing those characters without resorting to clichés, it is hard to imagine two more powerful tools for adding depth and dimension to your screenplays, novels or plays.”

~ Michael Hauge, Hollywood script consultant and story expert, author of Writing Screenplays That Sell and Selling Your Story in 60 Seconds: The Guaranteed Way to Get Your Screenplay or Novel Read

PRAISE FOR THE RURAL AND URBAN THESAURUS BOOKS

“The one thing I always appreciate about Ackerman and Puglisi's Thesauri series is how comprehensive they are. They never stop at just the obvious, and they always over-deliver. Their Setting Thesauri are no different, offering not just the obvious notes of the various settings they've covered, but going into easy-to-miss details like smells and tastes. They even offer to jumpstart the brainstorming with categories on "potential sources of conflict." The Rural Setting Thesaurus, in particular, is wonderfully versatile, useful for contemporary authors and even fantasy authors such as myself.”

~ K.M. Weiland, best-selling and award-winning author of Outlining Your Novel, Structuring Your Novel, and Creating Character Arcs, as well as Jane Eyre: The Writer's Digest Annotated Classic.
