What I want to achieve through my setting description: (Highlight all that apply)

- To create conflict or tension
- To foreshadow a coming event
- To encourage an emotion-driven action or choice
- To remind a character of their past (good or bad)
- To poke at an old wound
- To challenge the protagonist to face his or her fears
- To recreate a wounding event so the protagonist can navigate it successfully & let go of past pain
- To actively deliver important backstory
- To characterize one or more characters
- To display symbolism or motifs that reinforce a deeper message or meaning
- To convey a specific mood
- To help steer the plot
- To test through obstacles and setbacks
- To give the setting an emotional value & deploy emotional triggers

WHAT IS A WRITERS HELPING WRITERS® DESCRIPTIVE THESAURUS?

Have you ever had a critique partner or editor suggest you need to show, not tell? Angela Ackerman and Becca Puglisi have, which is why the two set out to learn as much as possible about showing and telling, and how to master both. To help others, they created the Writers Helping Writers Thesaurus series, where they dive deep into an area of description and provide comprehensive lists of specific details that will help writers bring that element alive on the page.

These bestselling guides have sold over half a million copies, are available in many different languages, and are used by writers and editors all over the world. Maybe they can help you, too.
